Author's letter

Welcome to the 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report. This year's report, the 20th in our annual series, is derived from information on more than 177,000 individual positions at more than 113,000 tax-exempt organizations. The executive summary presents findings based not only on this report but also on data for previous years.

The Nonprofit Compensation Report remains the only large-scale analysis of its kind based entirely on data reported to the IRS. It also continues to be the most comprehensive nonprofit compensation study available.

Accurate, complete, and authoritative information on the nonprofit sector is more important than ever. The Pension Protection Act of 2006 increased the penalties for excessive benefit transactions, including overpayment of nonprofit executives. Meanwhile, Congress, donors, and the media continue to scrutinize nonprofit salaries.

Nonprofits must demonstrate to oversight agencies, grantmakers of all types (government, corporations, and private foundations), and individual donors that the salaries and benefits they offer are justified. They must document their compensation practices and be prepared to help their supporters understand why these practices are appropriate. The Nonprofit Compensation Report is a valuable tool for achieving these goals.

This report was conceived, designed, and compiled for 17 years by Chuck McLean, GuideStar's senior research fellow, and for one year by Holly Ivel, GuideStar's director of data services. I took over these duties last year. Now, in the report's 20th year, I'm proud to announce that extracting, cleaning, categorizing, and calculating the data is fully automated. We've worked tirelessly to ensure that the new automated process meets the same high-quality standards you've come to expect from Candid and doesn't stray too far from the process we've used in the past. With the exception of a newly created model to categorize free-text job titles into the 14 categories used in this report, the remaining steps for cleaning and compiling the data have largely remained unchanged. Automation opens the possibilities for what this report can become, and I'm excited for its future.

Without the foundation that Chuck and Holly laid for this report, the 20th edition would not be in your hands. I would also like to acknowledge and thank Carol Brouwer, Hannah Oren, Dave Hollander, and our two interns, Kenzie Reed and Monica Alicea. Their unwavering support, guidance, and willingness to roll up their sleeves and dig in was paramount to the development of the automated process used this year.

In the year ahead, I will be laying out plans for the 2021 edition. Feedback and comments on changes made this year, which are outlined in the methodology, or any other aspects of the report are very much welcome. Please e-mail your thoughts to products@candid.org.

Thank you for acquiring the 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report.

Executive summary

Highlights of the 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report

In February 2019, GuideStar and Foundation Center joined forces to form a new organization, Candid. Candid's mission is to get people the information they need to do good. You can learn more at candid.org.

GuideStar's database, website, and tools are now services of Candid. Visitors still access information on more than 2.9 million U.S. nonprofit organizations at guidestar.org. They still use free and fee-based products to get the nonprofit data they need. And they can use this new edition of the Nonprofit Compensation Report to benchmark and research nonprofit executive compensation.

The 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report is based on 177,542 observations from 113,103 Forms 990 and 990-EZ filed by 501(c) organizations with the IRS for fiscal year 2018.

Among the highlights:

More observations in 13 out of 14 title categories

From 2017 to 2019 we saw percent increases across all job categories, ranging from 0.2 percent to 51 percent. Employing a classification model to assign the free-text job titles into the 14 job categories used in the report resulted in larger percent increases in observations for each job category except for CEO as compared to last year. We saw increases ranging from 11 percent (Top Finance Position) to 108 percent (Top PR/Communications).

More observations in the highest budget band

- The number of observations in this year's report increased significantly from last year by 14,689 observations.
- We saw a 36 percent increase in observations in the highest budget band, greater than $50 million, compared to last year. This increase is likely due to the model's ability to categorize more free-text titles into the 14 job categories. For this budget band we saw large percentage increases in Top Business Position (112 percent increase), Top Facilities Position (133 percent increase), Top Program Position (138 percent increase), and Top PR/Communications Position (149 percent increase) compared to last year.

Section 501(c)(3) organizations broken out from other nonprofits

- Consistent with last year's report, we created separate sections at the national, state, and MSA (metropolitan statistical area) levels for non-501(c)(3) nonprofits. Data for 501(c)(3) organizations are grouped by NTEE (National Taxonomy of Exempt Entities) code. Data for non-(c)(3)s is presented in sections titled, "Other Subsection Groups."
 - Non-501(c)(3)s account for 20,600 filings, or 18 percent of total filings.

- Section 501(c)(06) business leagues account for 48 percent of non-(c)(3)s in the report.
- Five subsections make up the majority of the non-(c)(3) filings:

IRS subsection	Filing count
501(c)(06)—Business Leagues, Chambers of Commerce, Real Estate Boards, Etc.	9,899
501(c)(05)—Labor, Agricultural, and Horticultural Organizations	4,384
501(c)(04)—Civic Leagues, Social Welfare Organizations, and Local Associations of Employees	1,522
501(c)(07)—Social and Recreational Clubs	1,506
501(c)(14)—State Chartered Credit Unions, Mutual Reserve Funds	1,392

No change or slight increases in the gender gap

- Median compensation of females continued to lag behind that of males when considering comparable positions at similar organizations. The gap ranged from 5 percent for CEOs at organizations with budgets of $250 thousand or less to 20 percent at organizations with budgets of greater than $50 million.
- With the exception of the $1 million and $2.5 million budget band, all other budget bands for CEO showed no change or an increase in the size of the gap from 2017 to 2018.

Increases in annualized CEO compensation in most budget bands

- Median CEO compensation increased in 2018 compared to 2017 with the exception of women in the $25 million to $50 million budget band.
- The highest budget band showed the most significant year-over-year increase for CEOs, 5.7 percent for women and 5.9 percent for men.
- Year-over-year median CEO compensation changes are in line with or higher for males than females in all but the $1 million to $2.5 million budget band.

Leadership by gender

- Since 2005, women have made gains in the percentage of CEOs in organizations of all sizes. Gains have been most dramatic at organizations with budgets between $25 million and $50 million, where female leadership increased from 20 percent to 33 percent.
- Between 2017 and 2018, the percent of women leading organizations increased by 2-3 percentage points in all of the higher budget bands ($5 million and up).

Incumbent CEO compensation

- The median percentage increases for CEOs in 2018 were either in line with or slightly higher than the median percentage increases in 2017.
- The highest pay increases—3 to 4 percent—were seen in organizations with budgets of $1 million and up.
- Women showed higher median percent increases than men in all budget bands except the highest two.

Trends by program area for 501(c)(3) organizations

As was the case last year and has been for some time, health and science organizations had the highest overall median salaries. Arts, religion, and animal-related organizations brought up the rear. Several of these topics are explored in more detail below.

Compensation by gender

As past reports have found, there are still significant differences between the compensation of males and females. The median compensation of female CEOs was lower than that of males at organizations of all sizes, ranging from a 5 percent difference at organizations with budgets of less than $250 thousand to 20 percent at organizations with budgets over $50 million.

Median compensation of CEOs by gender, 2018

Although the pay gap between males and females had been slowly declining between 2005 and 2016, in 2018, the gap remained the same as 2017 or went up with one exception.

- The gap is smallest at organizations with budgets of less than $500 thousand.
- Organizations with budgets between $1 million and $2.5 million were the only group that showed a decrease in the gap between pay for men and women in 2018.
- Organizations with budgets between $25 million and $50 million showed an increase in the gap between pay for men and women in 2018, reversing the decrease seen in 2017.

Female gap in median CEO compensation, 2005–2018

Budget size	2005	2015	2016	2017	2018

The chart below shows the annualized change in CEO median salary from 2017 to 2018.

- All budget bands show gains year over year, with the exception of women in the $25 million to $50 million budget band.
- Male median salary increases were higher or the same, except for the $1 million to $2.5 million budget band.
- The greater than $50 million budget band shows the most significant jump in median salary for women and men year over year.

Budget size	Female	Male
≤$250K	0.4%	0.4%
$250K–$500K	0.8%	0.8%

$25M–$50M	-1.4%	2.9%
>$50M	5.7%	5.9%

Leadership by gender

In the 13 years from 2005 to 2018, the percentage of female CEOs grew in all budget groups. As has been the case in the past, however, their representation still declined steadily as organization size increased. Women still represent the majority of CEOs at smaller organizations. We saw increases between the 2017 and 2018 numbers in the higher budget bands.

Percentage of female CEOs, 2005–2018

Budget size	2005	2018
≤$250K	53%	58%

$10M–$25M	26%	37%
$25M–$50M	20%	33%
>$50M	14%	25%

Incumbent CEO compensation

The median increase in compensation of incumbent CEOs was either the same or slightly higher in 2018 than in 2017, regardless of gender or organization size, except for the median increase for females in the $250 thousand or less budget band, males in the $250 thousand to $500 thousand budget band, and females in the $25 million to $50 million budget band, which were slightly lower.

- As has typically been the case, increases were higher at larger organizations.
- In all but the highest two budget bands, females received higher increases than males.

Compensation Report

overview and methodology

The 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report draws exclusively from data reported on Forms 990 and 990-EZ. These are information returns filed annually with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) by most tax-exempt organizations—the 990 is used by organizations with annual revenues of $200,000 or more, and the 990-EZ by organizations with annual revenues of $200,000 or less and EOY assets of less than $500,000. Organizations are instructed to supply compensation information for all officers, directors, trustees, and up to 20 key employees who earn at least $150,000. Additionally, information is provided for certain other employees who earn at least $100,000.

The report considers 177,542 observations from 113,103 forms filed with the Internal Revenue Service by section 501(c) nonprofits for fiscal year 2018. Statistics are reported on total compensation; for the purposes of this report, total compensation is defined as the sum of Form 990, Part VII, Line 1a, Columns D, E, and F, or Form 990-EZ, Part IV, Columns C, D, and E, and Part VI, Columns C, D, and E. Individuals with total compensation of less than $15,000 were not included in order to make the cleansing and processing of the data more manageable. The vast majority of the filings examined for this report, 94 percent, were 990s; only 6 percent were EZs.

The 2020 Nonprofit Compensation Report also reports statistics on annual increases in total compensation. Because these statistics are driven by direct comparison with 2017 data for individuals who held the same positions at the same organizations, this data is less rich. It includes 102,716 observations from 76,703 organizations.

Job categories

The report shows the following job categories broken down by various combinations of gender, geography, organization type, and organization size. Because of the way organizations are required to report compensation on Form 990, only one position is available for most organizations, that of CEO/Executive Director. The report is extremely robust in that area, less so in the others. The chart below lists the number of individuals in the report who were classified into each job category and provides a few examples of the types of job titles mapped to each one.

New for this year, we used a classification model to assign these job categories. Using a model instead of manually coding the information allowed us to capture more observations in the final report, specifically for job titles other than CEO/Executive Director. As with any model, the output was not perfect, but our model performed sufficiently well for both precision and recall. For those interested in the details of precision and recall, this article (developers.google.com/machine-learning/crash-course/classification/precision-and-recall) provides a high-level overview.

Job category	Examples of titles included in the category

Top financial position (25,029)	Assistant Treasurer and CFO Associate Vice President of Finance CFO Senior Vice President of Finance and Administration
Top HR position (3,020)	Human Resources Director Vice President of Human Resources Vice President of Human Resources and Training

Top operations position (10,758)	Chief Operations Officer COO Operations Director

Top public relations/communications position (2,366)	Director of Communications Director of Marketing and Communications Director of Public Relations
Top technology position (3,729)	Chief Information Officer Chief Technology Officer Director of Information Systems Vice President of Information Technology

Note: A single position might be coded into more than one job category. For example, if a person's title was director of finance and administration, and no other person at the organization was more highly compensated in either area, the position was coded as both the top financial position and the top administrative position.

Gender

In the tables where the data is split out by gender, gender has been assigned using data from the Social Security Administration. The Social Security Administration provides separate annual files (ssa.gov/oact/babynames/limits.html) from 1880 to 2018 containing name, sex, and number of individuals born in the United States with a Social Security number. Names with 5 or more occurrences are listed.

The data set used to assign gender in this report was limited to data from 1928 to 1998, with the assumption that individuals listed on organizations' IRS filings would be between the ages of 20 and 90. The number of occurrences for each name for each sex during this period was totaled and the percentage of time a given name was assigned a specific gender was calculated. For example, the name Mary was given to females in 99.6 percent of observations and to males in 0.4 percent. Only names with 20 or more total occurrences and a male/female percentage greater than 70 percent were used to assign gender in this report. Individuals listed on the tax filings with names that were not included in the Social Security Administration data set or with male/female percentages less than 70 percent were assigned an unknown gender.

Output display

For each combination of variables with at least 5 observations, information is displayed. When there are fewer than 10 observations, only the average and median values are displayed. For between 10 and 20 observations, we display the average and the 25th, median (50th percentile), and 75th percentiles. For more than 20 observations, the 10th and 90th percentiles are also displayed. These percentile values approximate the distribution of compensation within a given category. As an example, if the 25th percentile value is $43,278, this means that about 25 percent of employees in the category made less than $43,278 and about 75 percent made more than that.

In cases where there are few observations, the median is likely to be the most reliable statistic. Still, this report does not use sampling but draws instead from every fiscal year 2018 Form 990 available to the author on August 5, 2020, on which compensation information was reported and could be codified. In most categories where the number of observations is small, it is because the number of such organizations in the entire population is as small or almost as small.

In general, the report is not useful for comparisons across categories, especially when the number of observations is small. For example, in the $250,000 to $500,000 budget group, the median salary for the top legal position is $107,678, versus $62,830 for CEOs. The CEO median, however, is based on 14,727 organizations, whereas that for the top legal position is based on only 21 organizations, and the CEO is more highly compensated (or is also in the top legal position) in 11 of those 21.

Besides job category, results are displayed for various combinations of gender, organization size, geography, and organization type. As noted above, gender was determined using data from the Social Security Administration.

Organization budget size

Organization size is represented here by annual expenses. Two different groupings are used, depending on the amount of information available for a particular table:

Four groups:

- $500,000 or less
- $500,001 to $1,000,000
- $1,000,001 to $5,000,000
- Greater than $5,000,000

Nine groups:

- $250,000 or less
- $250,001 to $500,000
- $500,001 to $1,000,000
- $1,000,001 to $2,500,000
- $2,500,001 to $5,000,000
- $5,000,001 to $10,000,000
- $10,000,001 to $25,000,000
- $25,000,001 to $50,000,000
- Greater than $50,000,000

Geography

Two different geographical groupings are used: state (including Puerto Rico, District of Columbia, and U.S. Virgin Islands), and metropolitan statistical area.

Metropolitan statistical area (MSA)

Data is displayed only for MSAs for which sufficient data is available, a total of 278. The level of detail available varies greatly, with larger MSAs obviously having more information available than smaller ones. The following MSAs have 500 or more observations:

Organization type

There are two primary organization type groupings in this report, (a) 501(c)(3) organizations and (b) other subsections.

The report uses three levels of hierarchy for 501(c)(3)s: NTEE major group (general), NTEE decile group (more specific), and NTEE centile group (most specific). For example, the Museum of Modern Art belongs to the NTEE major group “Arts, culture, and humanities”; the NTEE decile group “Museums”; and the NTEE centile group “Art museums.”

More information about the NTEE system, including definitions, is available at the NCCS website (nccs.urban.org/classification/NTEE.cfm). Note: N.E.C. below means “not elsewhere classified.”

A full list of the major, decile, and centile NTEE codes used in this report can be found in Appendix B.

Nonprofit organizations that fall outside the 501(c)(3) category are listed by their IRS subsections in the Other subsections portions of the report. Of the 113,103 filings in this report, 20,600 fall into this category.
